

SAS International

By Andrew Jackson, director

Tell us about your company?

Having operated in the Middle East for over 30 years, SAS International is a leading designer and manufacturer of interior building solutions. Products include metal ceiling systems, partitioning and architectural metalwork. We've recently opened a 15,500 sq ft dedicated training suite at our Dubai site which offers contractors flexible training and seminar programmes for our metal ceiling systems or partitioning. SAS International has supplied a number of significant projects in the region including Aldar's Headquarters in Abu Dhabi and the VIP car park at the Abu Dhabi Financial Centre. The company has recently supplied a bespoke metal ceiling solution, which is currently being installed, to Trust Tower in Abu Dhabi.

What are your best selling products?

Our metal ceiling solutions have a lifespan in excess of 25 years with only very basic maintenance. They provide building tenants with a value option, offering a high quality, long lasting finish as well as a sustainable one. They offer an inert and inherently hardwearing surface, making metal ceiling systems both hygienic and a low-maintenance option. They can allow for service integration and ease of access for ongoing maintenance and cleaning. Perforated metal ceiling solutions can provide outstanding levels of acoustic performance which is a major consideration to provide enhanced occupant comfort in an office environment.

Recent developments?

We recently launched a range of commodity products, available from stock, direct from the local depot in Dubai including metal ceiling solutions ideal for the commercial environment.

What sets you apart from the competition?

SAS International is driven by core values of quality, innovation and value. The continuous investment and development of the business ensure high quality product solutions providing outstanding value to project teams and clients pursuing excellence. Metal ceilings offer the sophisticated look desired by Middle East clients and are available in a variety of finishes that help to enhance the value of a building and perception of the internal environment. In the commercial sector where letting office space is hugely competitive tenants are attracted by grade "A" office space that represents real value for money.
